

Now Available: Testing With Phone Number For Private Devices (Live Testing Real Devices)

We're excited to announce that Sauce Labs has released a new feature today that benefits our live testing customers who hold private devices with SIM cards

- Customers can now see phone number under both device info on the real device selection page and device info in the actual live testing session
- If there's no SIM card for those private devices, customers will see "Phone number: No SIM card"
- This allows customers to see the phone number of the device they are using and perform various tests that require phone number such as
  - 2-factor authentication
  - SMS messages
  - Using the phone to dial

This feature is only for private device customers and public devices will never show the phone number field under device info
